Q: How can I refresh the field 'Umnik' during or before an insert? I have a field "Umnik" in my table and I want to refresh it in the beginning of an INSERT statement, because there is an update in there. But I can't seem to find the right event.. If I'm not wrong, it has to be for a control that's a browse control.. Could you please tell me what event could do the trick? A: The property Refresh will trigger the OnRefresh event. You could handle it and update that field. Make sure that you use the Application.EnableEvents property first. You could also handle the ItemSelected event of a ListView. This works even when there is no DataSource if you set the ListView.ItemSelectedEventMode property to ListViewItemSelectedEventMode.List. This will trigger an OnItemSelected event.
