1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an X-ray computed tomography (CT) apparatus, and more particularly to an X-ray CT apparatus, in which an X-ray beam having a relatively small energy is applied to a region of an object to be examined, for the purpose of obtaining an X-ray absorption coefficient μ/ρ (unit-radius absorption coefficient $\mu\text{m}^{-1}/\text{grams}/\text{cm}^{-2}$) of the object.

2. Description of the Related Art According to the invention disclosed in Japanese Unexamined Patent Publication No. 6-301254, it is possible to clarify the absorption of X-rays, relative to the material of a sample. As a result, it is possible to determine the composition of the sample. Further, as described in Japanese Unexamined Patent Publication No. 6-301254, according to the invention disclosed in Japanese Unexamined Patent Publication No. 6-301254, it is possible to obtain the size distribution of a particle in an analysis of a sample, by measuring the absorption of X-rays of the sample. According to the invention disclosed in Japanese Unexamined Patent Publication No. 10-224430, an X-ray beam of an energy level below the K-edge can be applied to a region of an object to be examined, to obtain an X-ray absorption coefficient of the object. According to the invention disclosed in Japanese Unexamined Patent Publication No. 11-208048, a small region of an object to be examined can be examined, using a wide energy range X-ray beam, to obtain an X-ray absorption coefficient μ/ρ (unit-radius absorption coefficient $\mu\text{m}^{-1}/\text{grams}/\text{cm}^{-2}$) of the object, from an X-ray absorption spectrum of the object. According to the invention disclosed in Japanese Unexamined Patent Publication No. 11-208048, the object is a thin plate-like sample, having a thickness of several mm, for example. Accordingly, if the object is applied to a detector, it is necessary to use a detector which is sufficiently wide in the direction of an X-ray beam, in order to obtain a correct X-ray absorption coefficient. Further, if the X-ray beam is applied to a region of the object where the thickness thereof is extremely small, it becomes necessary to accurately control the thickness of the sample to be applied to the detector. Accordingly, the invention

New York City Launches Incredible Campaign to Teach Women How To Cook April 12, 2011 First published in The Daily Mail, April 12, 2011 A new cooking campaign sees women in New York City encourage one another to get cooking. Advocating that it takes three to a kitchen, a group of female friends are going around the city baking, learning and giving cooking classes to fellow New Yorkers. The project, called Kitchen Party, aims to put the spotlight on women's role as full members of the kitchen community. Keeper of the Manor After the destruction of the Igantian empire and its capital, Brunhilde, by an invasion from the north, several ancient cities fell into chaos and lawlessness. The most well-known of the survivors of these war-ravaged lands became the City of Iron, formerly known as Rijkaat. City of Iron The City of Iron came to prominence in the Twilight of the Gods when its warriors and the other regions of Lyria united and defeated the ghouls of the Masked Way north of Brunhilde. Rijkaat was founded at the beginning of the Age of Shadow. Studies on the use of genetic recombination in the construction of hybrid genetic markers will be continued in oat. Work will be divided into two main areas. The first is development of a collection of RFLP markers for inheritance testing of alleles at single loci in a segregating population. RFLP methods of inheritance testing have been described earlier by various workers and published by different journals. The greatest difficulty that has been encountered in their practical use has been the lack of an extensive standard collection of polymorphic RFLP bands for oat. The availability of molecular techniques for the identification of DNA sequence variants has led to a revival of interest in the use of RFLPs for the identification of sequence variants at single loci in oat. We intend to develop an extensive collection of these so-called genetic markers. We also propose to extend these studies to other species in the genus Avena and its related genera, to establish more firmly the degree of genetic relatedness that exists between these species. Protect yourself from illicit Scrip Since the introduction of PayPal's secure electronic money transfer and payment services, there has been much apprehension among consumers about the risks involved with the transferring of funds using a virtual wallet. Often, the most common fears are related to concerns over the security of these
