A SECONDARY school teacher and her husband have been jailed for 13 months for giving alcohol to children. Byron Bay Local Court heard that the convicted teacher had 'hypnotised' the children into not drinking alcohol. The teacher and her husband were also seen by the court offering their child to his friends to drink alcohol. A former maths and economics teacher and her husband were jailed for 13 months for having alcohol and other drugs for their children in Byron Bay. Darlene Vlacnik and her husband Matthew Evans, both 40, were caught having alcohol and drugs with the same children in the Bay. They pleaded guilty to four charges of giving alcohol to a child and one of supplying alcohol to a minor. The couple, who taught at an east coast school, were also seen by the court offering their child to his friends to drink alcohol. In sentencing the pair, Judge Matthew Oxenham said he accepted that in their case 'it was the children who provided the alcohol not the parents'. He said the fact that they were trying to stop children having alcohol was a good reason why the couple were facing the prospect of being sent to prison. Judge Oxenham said he had 'distinct concerns about the influence of alcohol on children' and concluded that the accused couple had acted wilfully in getting the children to drink alcohol. He said he had to impose a 12-month sentence for each offence. The teacher and her husband both pleaded guilty to four charges each of giving alcohol to a child and one of supplying alcohol to a minor.Guido De Roo Guido De Roo (; born 25 September 1995) is a Dutch football striker. Q: Regex to remove everything except one key from string I've got a string that I want to split on the basis of a schema. I'm aiming to select a part of a string that is between two braces and remove everything else. So I'm using the following RegEx: string.replace(/\{.?\}/g, ''); Unfortunately, this only removes everything until the first {. I've tried playing around with the RegEx, but can't seem to get it to match everything up to the last }. Any ideas? A: Why do you need to use a regex for this? You can simply use string.match(/\{.?\}/)[0] to get the value from a string. A: Use replace to get the substring between brackets: str.replace(/\{[^}]\}/g,''); You might want to add g at the end of regex to make it work on the entire string. A: str.match(/\{.?\}/)[0] -10 colorectal cancer. The authors have no conflict of interests.
