The visual innovation was created in collaboration with its core technology partner, Sol Republic. The series of advanced 3D glasses are introduced in response to the ongoing popularity of 3D programming on television and in new entertainment mediums, and it reflects the company's commitment to leading the trend toward eye-tracking technology. The "New Moon" collection is an exciting new lineup of 3D glasses based on the latest in projection film technology and includes two HDMI HDMLs, three HDMI SDMLs, and two USB glasses. With the new models in the "New Moon" line, Volantronics has combined premium materials, innovative design, and best-in-class optics to create the most comfortable and stylish 3D glasses ever. For visual media enthusiasts, the "New Moon" collection is the most advanced assortment of 3D glasses, and offers the highest-quality projection for all types of viewing and watching. The collection also features the first eye-tracking feature for visual media. "The emergence of 3D has brought along a variety of new technologies," said Jaesung Lee, president of Volantronics, Inc. "The "New Moon" collection reflects Volantronics' focus on reaching out to end users while listening to their needs by continually innovating." "Volantronics is
