The critically acclaimed, horror-action game Bloody Streets is now on sale! Do yourself a favour and throw in a couple of credits now. It's also the best value for money among the bunch of titles Steam actually offered. So why not? Bloody Streets has a lot of cool stuff. We especially like its open world.

It's really big and there are lots of interesting stuff for you to do. Once you start moving in you'll realize how big it really is, and how big it really is means you can do whatever you want in it. There are random events, if you open the world map you can see them there. There are missions available through the story of the game. There are the standard "kill x zombies" type of missions. You can play them in any order or even skip them. There are some minigames as well - jumping, headshot shooting. The point of those minigames is to earn some gold, and gold you can use to unlock some cool stuff, and the cool stuff unlocks make the game even more fun. There's multiplayer as well. A cooperative mode in which you and your friend both take part in playing as different characters. If you want to play as the same character that's not a problem - both you and your friend can. If you play as different characters - there's no problem with that either. You can do whatever you want. You have character modes where you can choose any of the five available characters. You can customize your character. You have various attributes such as speed, headshot, firing rate and many other things that are tweaked to fit your playstyle. You play as one of five different characters. Once you unlock the character you can customize it and tweak it to your taste. There are weapons, melee weapons, weapons that are used to shoot, there are throwing weapons - you name it. There are weapons such as the Glock 17, pistol, revolver, shotgun, sniper rifle, machine gun, rocket launcher, grenade launcher, RPG, fighter jet, hand grenade and so on. All this comes to you in the form of weapons, ammo, attachments and the like. There are vehicles as well. So far there are three types of vehicles: helicopter, sports car, tank. It's a lot of fun to fly the helicopter around and find out how your character moves when you're really going fast. You can do impressive stunts while doing those things. If you keep playing over the summer holidays, you might want Story5/5 Minimalistic, minimalist aesthetic, with a game that felt very polished, with great storytelling and a nice, light-hearted approach to a creepy story. Visuals8/10 The world is immersive, and the characters are well drawn. Gameplay7/10 Since it's so minimalist, the game kind of breaks the boundaries of what you'd expect a game to do. It's fun to explore, but the gameplay can feel awkward at times. Gameplay Undertone: Controls4/5 The game uses either WASD or the arrow keys to move and jump. In addition to the arrow keys, WASD toggles between guns. One of the guns has more recoil. Still in the hospital, we got a prescription for Zicam and started up with that and everything I've used so far has been pretty good. I seem to be more awake now, but I've been feeling better than yesterday. I don't know why everything has been so hard lately. It seems like yesterday we were diagnosed with this thing and they didn't even tell us we needed to worry about it for a week. Wednesday, July 1, 2008 I think we were finally able to get the lab test results yesterday. We were supposed to get them Friday but I didn't get them until Sunday. We weren't exactly sure what they were going to say for sure. They are supposed to have a complete panel of blood tests which include a complete blood count, liver, kidney and thyroid function tests. We were disappointed to find that one of our friends died. That was tough. We thought we were getting a scare yesterday when the main doctor was out with the nurses, and the charge nurse had been at the front desk. They called us and said that "Tom's friend", our friend's dog, was having trouble breathing. He had been at the vet earlier today because he wouldn't eat and was very weak. His temperature was almost a 104 when they got him yesterday. They kept him in the hospital overnight and the next morning he was pretty weak and they thought he'd be better off at home than in the hospital so they released him. He got home all right and waited until the morning to go to the vet. She thought it was probably heat exhaustion because he's had a couple of friends die from it in the past couple of years. It was a bad time of year for it as well.
