Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a display unit for a camera provided with a camera unit having a shutter mechanism and an aperture stop mechanism, and an image pickup element. 2. Description of the Related Art A display unit which displays an image shot by a camera attached to an interchangeable lens is known as a finder display unit. The display unit displays the image by illuminating a display portion with light emitted from a light source. An example of such a display unit is a finder apparatus disclosed in Japanese Laid-Open Patent Publication (Kokai) No. H9-166312. In a conventional camera, the brightness of the illumination of the display unit affects the visibility of the display unit. The display unit is brightly illuminated in the case of a high-speed lens system, a large-aperture lens, or a camera equipped with an optical filter, thus enabling high visibility of the display unit. On the other hand, the display unit is not brightly illuminated when a compact system is used, and is not directly visible due to a lack of brightness. Thus, the compact system is accompanied by a disadvantage of poor visibility of the display unit.1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to the preparation of 1,3-diaminocyclohexane. d41b202975
