The David Foundation Mentoring Program About the Program According to the David Foundation, the David Foundation Mentoring Program offers one of the most exciting opportunities in the David Foundation's 66-year history of supporting society's most challenging people and their extraordinary needs. This program provides a unique and important opportunity for high school students who are motivated and gifted in the field of the arts to mentor talented teenagers from the public schools. The primary focus is on performance art but the program will consider new and innovative ways of working with the creative talent of local school children. The program is unique in that it is led by a trained artist in contemporary art, who also serves as the artistic advisor to the students. In addition to mentoring the young artists, the program has developed a work contract between the public school and the mentee. The aim of the contract is to ensure that the mentoring relationship is mutually beneficial and includes a carefully structured learning schedule. About the Mentor and Mentees The mentor is an artist who has created a body of work reflecting the unique cultural identity of a community and the values of the David Foundation. As an artist, he/she will work with the mentee in a planning/conceptualizing stage of the artists' work. The two-year Mentoring Program begins with an intensive summer in the community where mentees and mentors meet and connect, preparing for the two-year mentoring process. In total, ten students will be selected annually who will receive $10,000 each, over two years to allow them to realize their artistic visions. Mentee

Criteria The program seeks students who are fully motivated to be actively involved in the program, thus in keeping with the David Foundation's "relevance to the community" criteria. We seek qualified mentors who are available for 40 hours each week and who can commit to the program for two years. Mentors are selected on the basis of their experience and judgment about the students' capacity to succeed in this unique program, based on their professional accomplishments and the demonstrated qualities of leadership and personal integrity. Mentees are selected according to their aptitude for and aspirations
