Does the verb "requería" here mean 'demanded' or 'required'? A: This needs some more context to understand the whole sentence. I think the context in which this sentence appears is in relation to the career (job) that the students have to do. With all that (their) requería, their result was not (was not as good) as good. It seems to be stating their results weren't as good as their expected results based on the amount of work they had to put in. From the context I think this has to do with the student's work not being as good as they expected it to be and the results not meeting expectations
