BitTorrent Pro Serial Key.Q: Keras Custom Layer with optional inputs and output in multi-batch training I am trying to create a custom layer class to be used as a reduction layer in Keras. I'm using Tensorflow as backend. What I have so far: I have written Keras Custom Layer Class. And I'm using it as a reduction layer in some DNNs. First, I have to create my layer instance. This part is working well. Then, I get the correct number of the required input tensors. This one, to get the number of the input tensors, is something I have to solve by myself. So, I'm doing it like this, but I think this is wrong, for sure. My custom layer class: import numpy from keras.layers import Input from keras.layers.core import Lambda class ReduceLayer(object): def __init__(self, kwargs): self.name = kwargs.get('name','reduce_layer') self.num_inputs = int(kwargs.get('num_inputs', 2)) self.num_outputs = int(kwargs.get('num_outputs', 0)) self.kernel = numpy.array(kwargs.get('kernel'), dtype=n 04aeff104c
